

WASHINGTON PHOTOGRAPHED FROM AN AIRPLANE

This remarkable photograph of the United States capitol and its surroundings was made from the airplane in which Representative-elect O. D. Bleakley flew from Philadelphia to Washington. Beyond the capitol is the Congressional library, and at the extreme right the House office building. At the left of the picture is Union station. Between the station and the capitol is the Senate office building. In the right foreground is the botanical garden, between Pennsylvania avenue on the left and Maryland avenue on the right. The camera is looking toward the east.

ONE OF THE BRITISH TANKS IN ACTION

This official photograph of one of the armored caterpillar fighting machines that threw the Germans into confusion when they first appeared, shows the tank crawling over an immense crater on the battlefield. The rear of the tank, where the guiding is done by a pair of wheels, is still to cross the depression. The machine guns, mounted in sponsons on each side of the tank, are flying ahead at the enemy.

DEFENDER OF KAVALA REWARDED

Venizelos, head of the Greek provisional government, presenting a standard to Colonel Christodoulos, defender of Kavala against the Bulgars. A large crowd attended the ceremonies.

CARRANZA'S ARMORED MOTORCAR

This is an armored motorcar belonging to the Carranza forces in Juarez. It is worthy of note that the United States army is without such equipment.

BISHOP HUGH L. BURLESON

Rev. Hugh Latimer Burleson, who has just been consecrated bishop of the Missionary district of South Dakota. The ceremony was performed by ten bishops in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York. Bishop Burleson is the son of a minister and has four brothers who are ministers.

The Usual Way.

"Time is precious," said the parson. "It is, indeed," rejoined the business man, "and I've wasted an awful lot of it."

"By indulging in foolish pleasures, I suppose?" suggested the good man.

"Not exactly," replied the other. "I wasted most of it being punctual in keeping my appointments with others."

Placating Santa.

"Is your little son obedient?"

"Only about three weeks in the year."

"That's singular."

"No, I think it quite common. He usually begins to obey me implicitly early in December."

Hint That Failed.

Caller (waiting for an invitation)—Two o'clock! I fear I am keeping you from your dinner.

Hostess—No, no; but I fear we are keeping you from yours.

NEW BUILDING OF AMERICAN RED CROSS

The American Red Cross will move about January 15 from its present quarters in the state, war and navy building, in Washington, into its new headquarters, a magnificent white marble edifice which occupies an entire square between the Corcoran Art gallery and D. A. R. hall. On its cornerstone, which was laid by President Wilson and former President Taft, the building is labeled: "A Memorial to the Heroic Women of the Civil War!" Construction was begun early in 1915.

HATTIE CLEARS SNOW FROM HER WALKS

Hattie, the sixteen-year-old elephant of the New York Central park zoo, photographed as she cleared the paths near her residence. This is the second year that Hattie, under the direction of her good friend, Bill Snyder, headkeeper of the zoo, has helped to keep down the city's snow-removal expenses. She easily drags a snowplow which clears a 12-foot path and takes up several tons of snow at each trip.

MENDING A CAPTURED GERMAN AIRPLANE

English aviators patching up a German airplane that had been brought down, and turning it to their own use.

SHE WORKS FOR FRANCE

Miss Maud E. Kahn, oldest daughter of Otto H. Kahn, one of the foremost bankers of America, in the service uniform she wears "somewhere in France," where she is engaged in war relief work.

Wouldn't Encourage the Plants.

"What have you nice today?" asked the lady entering the grocer's store.

"We have some very nice egg-plants," replied the man in the white apron.

"You know I belong to the association that is boycotting everything in the way of eggs, so I cannot conscientiously have anything to do with the plants."

LAUNCHING TORPEDO DESTROYER SHAW

Launching of the torpedo-boat destroyer Shaw at Mare Island, San Francisco, a few days ago. The vessel was nearly completed when launched. It is 315 feet long, with a speed of 35 miles an hour.